SecureCom™ Mobile Inc. Signs US Distributor Agreement With Kerberos International

Vancouver, B.C., February 25, 2015 – SecureCom™ Mobile ("SecureCom™", "the Company") announces that it has signed its first distributor agreement with Texas, U.S. based, Kerberos International, Inc. ("Kerberos"). Kerberos provides innovative communications, security solutions, and scatterable media systems to support defense, industry, government, aid and emergency management requirements worldwide. Their ability to seek out and validate new technologies and to craft the latest technologies into operational solutions enables them to offer significant value to industry, aid and emergency management professionals throughout the world.

Dawn Cole, President of Kerberos International commented, "SecureCom Mobile enables us to offer our customers an unbeatable combination of secure voice calls, text, and private messaging packaged in powerful but easy to use encrypted phone applications. We are excited to bring the innovative SecureCom solution to our market. Kerberos will launch SecureCom Mobile applications into its customer base that includes federal, state, and local agencies as well as commercial customers in the oil and gas industry".

Peter Wilson, one of the founding directors to SecureCom stated, "As the development of SecureCom applications continues across all mobile operating platforms as well as all major computer operating systems, we are finding our encrypted communications is entirely relevant to a wider and wider range of users. Kerberos is an important step in our distribution strategy where SecureCom applications are integrated collaboratively into Kerberos service offerings".
